Proofs of the Existence of God.

Catholic News.]

In a musical instrument, when we observe divers strings meet in harmony, we conclude that a skillful musician tuned them. When we see thousands of men in a field, marshaled under several colors, all yielding exact obedience, we infer that there is a general whose commands they are all subject to. In a watch, when we take notice of the great and small wheels, all so fitted as to concur in an orderly motion, we acknowledge the skill of an artificer. When we come into a printing-house, and see a great number of different letters so ordered as to make a book, the consideration thereof maketh it evident that there is a compositor by whose art they were brought into such a frame. When we behold a fair building we conclude it had an architect; a stately ship, well-rigged, and safely conducted to port, that it had a pilot. So here: the visible world is such an instrument, army, watch, book, building, ship, as undeniably argueth a God, who was and is the tuner, general and artificer, the composer, architect and pilot of it.

And so, when we survey the bare outworks of this our globe; when we see so vast a body accoutred with so noble a furniture of air, light and gravity; with everything, in short, that is necessary to the preservation and security of the globe itself, or that conduceth to the life, health and happiness, to the propagation and increase of all the prodigious variety of creatures the globe is stocked with; when we see nothing wanting, nothing redundant or frivolous, nothing botching or ill-made, but that everything, even in the very appendages alone, exactly answereth all its ends and occasions—what else can be concluded but that all was made with manifest design, and that all the whole structure is the work of some intelligent Being, some Artist of power and skill equivalent to such a work?

When Napoleon was returning to France from the expedition to Egypt, a group of French officers one evening entered into a discussion concerning the existence of a God. They were on the deck of the vessel that bore them over the Mediterranean Sea. Thoroughly imbued with the infidel and atheistic spirit of the times, they were unanimous in their denial of this truth. It was at length proposed to ask the opinion of Napoleon on the subject, who was standing alone wrapt in silent thought. On hearing the question, "Is there a God?" he raised his hand, and, pointing to the starry firmament, simply responded, "Gentlemen, who made all that?"

Four Gentlemen.

A few months after my marriage I was sent through Lincoln county, New Mexico, to survey some mineral lands for a railroad company. My wife wanted to go with me. It was a camp-out expedition and a case of roughing it, and no mistake. I finally consented, and we set out with an ambulance, cooking outfit, etc., across the plains, 150 miles from any railroad and into the heart of a wilderness.

One day a terrific rain set in, and continued all the next night. In the storm I lost my bearings, and wandered until 8 o'clock at night, when I saw a light. I drove toward it, and came to a small miner's cabin. I got down, knocked at the door and was admitted. I stated my case and asked for shelter.

"Come right in, stranger, and welcome," was my answer.

I glanced around the room, and saw four roughly-dressed miners. The room had no floor, and only an open fire-place, over which their frugal meals were cooked. A few necessary articles completed the entire furniture of the cabin. "My wife is with me," I said, "and is out in the wagon now." "Here, boys, bundle out o' this and help the stranger in with his things. Be lively, now," said the spokesman, pulling off his hat and squaring things about.

They helped us with our goods, got a roaring fire to going, and then, forming in line near the leader, said: "Ye'r kindly welcome, mum. We ain't got much to offer, but yer can take the ranch." And in spite of all we could say they took their rubber coverings and blankets, and filed out of the cabin and stayed out all night. Nor would they take any compensation in the morning.

Our Vineyards.

Raleigh Observer.]

The census has issued an interesting bulletin showing the statistics of the vineyards in the United States. California, as might be supposed, largely leads with 155,000 acres in vines already bearing and 45,000 in young vines. Employment is given to 100,000 laborers, and the total value of the plant is put at $86,000,000. California makes 14,000,000 gallons of wine.

New York comes next with 43,000 acres in bearing and 7,600 in young vines, making 2,528,000 gallons of wine, and selling 60,000 tons of grapes for table use. This plant is worth $20,000,000, and 25,000 laborers are employed. Ohio comes third and Missouri fourth.

North Carolina has 4,000 acres in bearing and 12,000 in young vines. We are credited with 388,000 gallons of wine, and we sold 4,667 tons of grapes for table use. The showing we made in this bulletin, while very creditable, is not as gratifying as it should be. But we have at least made a beginning. If we were to avail ourselves of all our advantages North Carolina would realize much wealth from grape-growing. Our proximity to the great markets should lead us to engage more extensively in the shipment of table-grapes; 267,000 tons of grapes are now used in that way, of which we furnish only one-sixtieth part. That is certainly a profitable business. It can be attended to by women, and will afford employment even to children. The opening up of railroad lines will give facilities for shipment from new localities, and we would be glad to see the business largely extended. Let us diversify our industries.

An Editor's Joke.

New York World.]

John Brisbin Walker entered the office of the Cosmopolitan a few mornings ago, and found that his assistant was complaining bitterly of the fact that the janitor had neglected to turn on the steam heat.

"Never mind," said Walker. "We'll warm the office up as soon as a poet comes in."

"How'll you do it?" asked the assistant.

"Why, we'll fire him."

A Little Girl's Compliment.

The accuracy with which children judge character is well illustrated in the following anecdote:—

One wet, foggy, muddy day a little girl was standing on one side of the street, in London, waiting for an opportunity to cross over. Those who have seen London streets on such a day, with their wet and mud, and have watched the rush of cabs, hansoms, omnibuses and carriages, will not wonder that a little girl should be afraid to try to make her way through such a Babel as that. So she walked up and down, and looked into the faces of those who passed by. Some looked careless, some harsh, some were in haste; and she did not find the one she sought until at length an aged man, rather tall and spare, and of grave yet kindly aspect, came walking down the street. Looking in his face, she seemed to see in him the one for whom she had been waiting, and she went up to him and whispered timidly, "Please, sir, will you help me over?"

The old man saw the little girl safely across the street; and when he afterwards told the story he said: "That little girl's trust is one of the greatest compliments I ever had in my life."

That man was the great and good Lord Shaftesbury. He received honors at the hands of a mighty nation; he was complimented with the freedom of the greatest city on the globe; he received the honors conferred by royalty; but the greatest compliment he ever had in his life was when that little unknown girl singled him out in the jostling crowd of a London street, and dared to trust him, stranger though he was, to protect and assist her.

Length of Dreams.

All the Year Round.]

Ariel could put a girdle round about the world in forty minutes, but he was slow compared with the most ordinary dream. We survey mankind in China and Peru at the same instant of time, and in the course of one revolving moon we may walk with Plato in the Groves of Academe, applaud Luther at the Diet of Worms, set out for Holy Palestine with Cœur de Leon, assist Noah in building the ark, and call on the mountains to cover us at the Day of Judgment.

Many stories are told showing the different count of time. Lord Brougham relates that he dreamed a dream of long-continued action during a short doze while a droning counsel was pleading before him. Lord Holland fell asleep while listening to some one reading, dreamed a long dream, and awoke in time to hear the conclusion of a sentence the first words of which were in his ears when he became unconscious. Dr. Abercrombie relates that a gentleman dreamed that he had enlisted for a soldier, joined his regiment, deserted, had been apprehended, carried back, tried, condemned to be shot, and at last led out for execution. After all the usual preparations he awoke with the report of the guns, and found that a noise in an adjoining room had both produced the dream and awakened him.

Another dreamed that he had crossed the Atlantic, and spent a fortnight in America. In embarking, on his return, he fell into the sea, and, having woke with the fright, he found that he had not been asleep ten minutes.

How a Hymn was Written.

One day Mr. Wesley was sitting by an open window, looking out over the bright and beautiful fields. Presently a little bird flitting about in the sunshine attracted his attention. Just then a hawk came swooping down towards the little bird. The poor thing, very much frightened, was darting here and there, trying to find some refuge. In the bright sunny air, in the leafy trees or in the green fields, there was no hiding-place from the fierce grasp of the hawk. But seeing an open window and a man sitting beside it, the bird flew, in its extremity, towards it, and, with a beating heart and a quivering wing, found refuge in Mr. Wesley's bosom. He sheltered it from the threatening danger, and saved it from cruel death. Mr. Wesley was at that time suffering from severe trials, and was feeling the need of refuge in his own time of trouble as much as did the trembling little bird that nestled so safely in his bosom. So he took up his pen and wrote that sweet hymn:

Jesus, lover of my soul,
Let me to Thy bosom fly,
While the waves of trouble roll,
While the tempest still is high.

That prayer grew into one of the most beautiful hymns in our language, and multitudes of people, when in sorrow and danger, have found comfort while they have said or sung the last lines of that hymn.

The Sisters of Mercy.

Atlanta Journal.]

A Protestant "of the most straitest sect," it was with a vivid interest that I entered St. Joseph's Infirmary the other day, and talked with the sisters of that beautiful work of theirs—the loving ministry to the sick. And as I followed my gentle guide through halls and up stairways of immaculate neatness into dainty bedrooms bright with sunlight; even up into the picturesque little chapel where, in the stillness, one or two black-robed figures were bowed in prayer, my admiration for the systematic management of the work was tinged with a reverential awe at the spirit of consecration which seemed to pervade it all.

I could but feel that the man sick and homeless was indeed fortunate to gain such an asylum; for to have that cool, quiet touch on fevered brow, that pure, gentle face bending o'er the sick bed, would surely do much toward restoring to a normal tone the racked nerves of a diseased body.

It is a beautiful life, that of those "Sisters of Mercy"—a life that touches closely both the human and divine.

And I know of no more glorious epitaph for any of us when our life-work is done than the eulogy so beautifully embodied in that eloquent phrase—"A Sister of Mercy!"

A Heavy Rain.

Young Inhabitant—I never saw it rain harder than it did to-day.

Old Inhabitant—To-day wasn't a circumstance to a rain we had once at Grass Lake. I took my row-boat out to paint it, and had it layin on the ground bottom up, dryin', when the storm commenced. Well, would you believe it, the rain came down so thick that that ole boat thought she was in the water, and went floatin' off bottom up!

Washington Official Life.

Harriet Upton in Home-Maker.]

Until within a few years wealth influenced Washington society very little; but of late years there has been a very marked change, and from now on money bids fair to be more and more the key to the relative social positions. There will probably be higher and lower classes, and there will be changes, such as marked the Jefferson administration with its severe simplicity, and the Monroe administration with its imposing stateliness; but the President will still always give receptions to the members of Congress, the diplomatic corps, the army and the navy; there will always be state dinners, at which government and foreign officials, regardless of wealth, will be almost the only guests.

Refreshments are always served at evening receptions in Washington social life, except at the White House. President Hayes, who spent a larger amount of money on entertainments than any of his predecessors or successors, always had an elegant collation set forth; but since that time there has been no eating and drinking at the three annual card receptions in the executive mansion.

To the young woman just freed from the restraints and trammels of school discipline a winter in Washington society is like a season spent with Aladdin's genii. The meeting with titled foreigners, the escort of army and navy officers, the acquaintance of men and women of national reputation, the ornate drawing rooms, grand balls and germans, dainty lunches, exquisite bouquets and Paris gowns:—all go to make up the splendor; but to the middle-aged woman who has seen the crowds come and go, paying visits, no matter how dearly the round, and seeing the frivolity that is everywhere, it is a far different story—and any slight illness or misfortune in the family is taken advantage of to announce that "Mrs. —— will be unable to return her visits this season because of the death of a near relative," etc.

In most communities people take highest rank in society because of family or wealth, extraordinary ability or genius, or from accident; but in Washington it is because of their official position. Only that, though their qualities may win for them friendship and love, will confer on them the distinction coveted. Ladies are invited to the state dinner given to the Supreme Court not because they are the brightest and best women of the President's acquaintance but because their husbands are members of the judiciary committee of the Senate or the House, or to the state dinner to the diplomatic corp because their husbands are on the committee on foreign affairs. Such a guest may be cross-eyed and brainless, but she will take the high seat, and receive the official attention. Personality is lost in position, and this loss of personality is true of all grades—even that of President. The President is served first at state dinners; and, so exacting is this rule, even when a friend from his old home dines quietly by his side, it is the host, not the guest, who is first served.

The Origin of "Sub Rosa."

The Latin phrase, sub rosa, is used in elegant speech to indicate secresy, and means "under the rose," or "not to be told." The origin of the expression is as follows: The first rose that was ever seen was given to Harpocrates, the god of silence, by Cupid, to induce the former not to betray the latter's lovely but naughty mother, Venus, in her disreputable carryings-on. From this myth the ancients made it the symbol of silence, and it was a custom to place a rose above the head in their banqueting-halls, indicating that nothing said or done was to be divulged outside.

Somewhat akin to the above is the following little story: A company of wise men once banded themselves into a club—although they did not call it by name—the sole object of which was mutual improvement; and, for the furtherance of this object, they swore each other to silence during their meetings, communication being carried on by symbols and pantomime. At length came a man wiser than all the rest, asking for admission. They would gladly have received him, but their prescribed number was already taken—to indicate which fact they silently filled a glass to the brim with wine, so that a drop more would cause it to overflow. He understood, and, quick as thought, dropped a rose-leaf on the brimming liquid, where it floated, not a drop of the wine running over. The wise men were so delighted that they stretched their rules to receive him. And thus has come down to us: "the rose-leaf on the brimming wine-cup."

Uncle Sam's Big Farm.

The greatest breadth of the United States, from Point Isabel, Tex., to the northern boundary near Pembina, N. D., is 1,611½ miles; its greatest length, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, on the parallel of 42°, is 2,768 miles. It will be seen from these figures that the United States is larger from ocean to ocean than it is from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico. The total area, including Alaska, is 3,602,990 square miles; that of British America, so-called, which includes the present Dominion of Canada and Newfoundland, is 3,510,592 square miles—so that the latter is larger than the United States without Alaska, which of itself contains 577 399 square miles.

That Wooden-Headed Doctor.

"I take it for granted, Miss Laura," said young Dr. Smidgely, "that you condemn, as all sensible young women do, the unwholesome and barbarous practice of tight lacing."

"On the contrary, Doctor," replied Miss Laura, with a mischievous look in her glorious dark eye, "I consider a compression of the waist to a reasonable extent not only harmless but at times positively exhilarating."

And that dense, stupid, wooden-headed youth sat there for an hour, and argued with that girl on the evils of tight lacing.

EUROPEAN COMPLICATIONS.

A bit of ribbon adorned with a few jewels wouldn't seem to be fraught with significance enough to set Europe by the ears; but the cross of the Russian order of St. Andrew, pinned on the coat lapel of M. Carnot, President of the French republic, by grace of the Czar's favor, is like a red rag to a bull in the eyes of the other jealously on-looking powers—and Signor Crispi, ex-Premier of Italy, does not hesitate to declare that it means war before the year is out.

At any rate, when the "Russian bear' cloaks the sharpness of his claw in the insidious velvet of his paw, moderates his surly bass, and, like Bottom's lion in "Midsummer Night's Dream," will "roar you gently as the sucking dove," the bystander naturally wants to know what mischief is hatching in bruin's brain; and diplomats see in this hobnobbing of Alexander and Carnot the possibility of a close alliance between France and Russia, and the rapid mobilization of their military forces for an offensive movement against the peace of Europe.

Russian ambition, in its magnitude and magnificence, is akin to the barbaric splendor of its court and empire, and it may be that the Czar believes it to be his mission to verify the prophecy of Napoleon—that Russia would be mistress of the world—before the Nihilists accomplish their mission on him; but we do not believe that a general war would be popular with the French people—even for the sake of revenge on Germany. They look longingly toward the Rhine frontier, and they yearn after Alsace and Lorraine, but they are satisfied with the "victories of peace" eliminated from the wonderful prosperity that they have achieved since the Franco-Prussian war of 1870.

THE INCOME TAX.

We do not say that the last General Assembly committed a great blunder, for that would imply that the provision for an income tax, as it has come from their hands, was the result of accident or negligence—and it may very well be that the members of that body accomplished just what they designed to do; but they certainly effected a very pernicious and horribly unpopular piece of legislation.

A construction by lawful authority that only the net income, after deducting all necessary expenses of living, etc., is intended to be taxed would greatly mitigate the hardship of this amended clause in the act; but it is "not so named in the bond," and, as the law now stands, there is not a bread-winner, not a wage-earner, however humble—the day-laborer, the seamstress, the artisan, the bookkeeper, the clerk—who is not expected to pay tribute from a scant pittance. It comes as near as possible to a realization of that condition of things where from "him that hath not shall be taken even that which he hath."

This income tax is even more burdensome than the direct tax imposed by the United States immediately after the war; and even that government, hard task master as it is, has of late become conscience-sticken, and is preparing to refund the fruits of that injustice.

In front of those members of the General Assembly who are responsible for this sweeping onslaught upon the livelihood of poor men stretches a limitless perspective of the shades of private life, through which they may wander even unto the evening of a long career; but to the stir and pleasing excitement of a political campaign their footsteps will no more turn, in the sunshine of political preferment they will no more bask—no, never.

ISSUES OF THE DAY.

If the deplorable New Orleans affair shall wake the country up to the necessity of excluding entirely all such immigration as Italy usually sends us, and leads us to restrain and discourage foreign immigration entirely, the incident will have served a good and valuable end.—Winston Daily Sentinel.

It will do more than that: it will teach the foreigners in this country that they must behave themselves, or seek refuge elsewhere in a climate and among a people more congenial to their habits and customs. The American people are civilized and generally law-abiding, to say the least of them, and are moreover determined and firmly resolved that civilization and brains shall rule this country, and not the scum of Europe.

This is no country for the practice of Socialism, Anarchy and kindred organizations, such as the New Orleans Mafia, for instance, and all such should find no resting-place on American soil. As the Sentinel further on says, "the sentiment called forth by the New Orleans case is plainly gaining ground all over the United States that a revision of our naturalization laws would be advisable"—nay, an imperative necessity. True enough, these laws were made broad and extraordinarily liberal in the earlier days of the republic because of the sparsely settled condition of the country, and which needed filling up. The case now, however, is very different, as we have already over sixty-two millions of people, whose natural increase must necessarily be enormous, and who will soon be sufficient in point of numbers to require all, and more, of our unoccupied lands. It is therefore patent to everyone that the same necessity for immigration to this country which existed fifty or one hundred years ago does not exist to-day, and if immigration should be prohibited, or cease entirely, America could well afford to do without it, and in our opinion would be infinitely better off.

Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby, the gifted and distinguished pastor of the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian Church of New York, died at his residence in that city on Sunday morning last, aged 64 years. Endowed with abilities of a high order, fortified by moral qualities almost heroic, Dr. Crosby was a christian soldier in the best and highest sense of the term. "The courage of his convictions" is an expression so much on the tongues of men as to have become almost threadbare; but it accurately describes Dr. Crosby's attitude on all great social and economic questions. He fought vice wherever he found it; but his weapons were wielded with the long sweep of the enlightened thinker and not with the yell of the fanatic. He was in the van of the pious crusade against intemperance, but his broad and catholic spirit did not permit him to accept the radicalism of prohibition, or to hope that he could effect the moral purification of man by the saving power of a legislative statute. In Dr. Crosby's death the church has lost a champion and humanity a friend.

The announcement that Peter Wilson, of Winston, is to have supervision over the North Carolina exhibit at the World's Fair in Chicago will be received throughout the State with genuine pleasure, and give substantial evidence of a meritorious exhibit from the Old North State on this auspicious occasion. Mr. Wilson was for years Secretary of the State Agricultural Society, and is familiar with the varied resources of the State, and preeminently the right man for the place. The OBSERVER heartily seconds his nomination.

The Italian government has recalled its Minister at Washington—explicitly stating that the New Orleans trouble is the reason therefor. Well, we will try and get along without the Italian Minister.

The Convention's Closing Hours.

The very successful Tenth Annual Convention of the State Sunday School Association is merged already with the things that are past, but an "annex" to our report of its proceedings last week is a duty which we have to perform in making up this issue of the OBSERVER.

On Thursday morning Rev. J. P. Barrett, editor of the Christian Sun of Raleigh, delivered an address which was received with much pleasure by the audience present. He was especially pleasing in his easy and beautiful exposition of the character of youth, the readiness to learn on the part of the child, its precocity in intuition and its exceeding receptiveness to external impressions.

At the Hay Street Methodist Church on Thursday afternoon Mrs. Crafts was greeted by a very large audience, despite a heavy down-pour of rain, and in her lecture on the ways of working in Primary Classes she charmed all her hearers. Without being especially fluent, not at all rhetorical, and sacrificing nothing to effect in her earnestness, she is graceful, winning and impressive.

On Thursday night the addresses of Prof. S. F. Blair, of Menola, and of Rev. Dr. J. J. Hall, of Raleigh, made an edifying conclusion of the convention's work—the former on Woman's Mission Aid Work, and the latter on the Sunday School Teachers' Week Day Work—both scholarly, forcible lectures.

NOTES.

It gives us much pleasure—which we are certain that Fayetteville people generally will share—to know that the delegates to the convention were much pleased with the social enjoyments of their visit, growing out of their reception by the people of this community.

Considerably more than one-third of the counties of the State were represented in the State Convention, the enrollment showing that 35 counties were acting through their delegates on the floor.

The amount raised on Wednesday night, 25th ult., $1,135, to pay the expenses of a State Organizer, was subsequently increased by subscription to nearly $1,500, and no fears are entertained about raising the amount finally to the requisite $2,000. Mr. F. H. Blair, the acting President of the convention, is spoken of for State Organizer.

Mr. S. A. Kerr, of Greensboro, was one of the most active and successful Sunday-school workers on the floor of the convention. He has accomplished much in his county and district; and, as he is a young man, great results may still be expected of him.

The tribute paid on Wednesday night by Mr. Reynolds to Mr. H. N. Snow, of Durham, Statistical Secretary, was well-merited. A Sunday-school Convention without Mr. Snow would be "Hamlet with Hamlet left out." He is an earnest, zealous christian worker.

Rev. Mr. Barrett says that Southgate, of Durham, is an orator, and, not only that, that he is a brainy orator. We don't know what constitutes oratory, but we do know that Mr. Southgate could have held his audience for hours the other night—and the pith of his discourse proved that the brains were there.

Prof. Sutton, of Trinity, the Convention's stenographer, did very faithful, capable work.

Our district is well-officered. A better selection for Vice-President could not have been made than Capt Black, of Maxton.

One of the pleasantest incidents among the closing scenes of the convention was the raising of a purse, on motion of Mr. Reynolds, for the behoof and delectation of the faithful and esteemed old colored sexton of the church, John Ochiltree, who put his pantaloons under his pillow that night, and "lay down to pleasant dreams," with a matter of $8 therein for a "rainy day."

We know that we are speaking the sentiments of all the members of the convention and the attendants thereon in tendering hearty thanks for the music furnished by Mrs. W. G. Hall, organist, with the Union Choir and members of the Choral Association. They have made for the town the reputation of furnishing the finest church music in the State—a reputation well-merited, which we expect to retain. That of the last night was especially fine—the "Hallelujah Chorus" excelling anything of the kind we ever heard on a similar occasion—and it is but just to make mention of the matchless bass voice of Mr. Grennameyer, a singer of remarkable excellence.

A beautiful duet was rendered by Miss Jennie Rose and Mr. H. R. Novitzky.

The personnel of the convention was fine; there were many handsome young men and fine-looking middle-aged and old men, having brainy heads and faces full of character; and, best of all, we were especially pleased to have as visiting delegates some of the most refined and thoroughly educated women of the State.

We were glad to see at work in the convention our friend, Mr. J. R. Mendenhall, of Greensboro—than whom there is no more earnest and zealous man in the State where good is to be done.

Easter Sunday.

Nature would seem to have smiled in sympathy with the solemn celebration of the Resurrection of our Lord, and for that one day drew aside the curtains of cloud in an air as balmy and soft as if the tropical south had blown it hither, and caught the peals of the bells of worship in a vault of unflecked blue.

Woman's deft hand and faultless taste had decked the interior of the Hay Street Methodist Church in very lovely garb of the most exquisite flowers of the Easter season, and on Sunday morning a large congregation attended the impressive services. Miss Belle Barker's rendering of the solo, "The Resurrection," was one of her most charming and admired efforts, and of the discourse of the pastor, Rev. W. H. Moore—which was forcible and fitting to the occasion—a friend who was present gives us the following summary:

For a living man to raise a dead one took miraculous and divine power, as well. But here a dead man raised himself from the dead: this is what Christ, our Saviour, did. The chief priests said he was stolen away while the soldiers slept. If the soldiers were asleep, how did they know who stole the body away? Where were the witnesses? Why were not the sixty soldiers sent for, sworn and examined?—Yet not one of them, nor any other witness, was sent for or produced at the trial of the eleven disciples, who affirmed that Christ was risen; but, on the contrary, they were released without being disproved, and let go away, still affirming that Christ was indeed risen from the dead. Thus by clear implication did the chief priests admit the truth of the disciples' affirmation.

Again, it was death by the Roman law for the soldier who slept on his post. Would the Roman government have demoralized their army, and destroyed its discipline, by a remission of the penalty for so grave a crime, to please the religion of a conquered province? Could the body have been stolen while they slept, without the noise of breaking the seal and rolling away the immense stone awakening some one of the sixty sleeping soldiers? Would eleven poor timid men, deprived of their great head and leader, have attempted such a daring act in the face of the authority of the whole Jewish and Roman governments, who were pledged to keep secure the body of our Lord and Saviour until after the "third day"?

Many other strong and convincing arguments did this able and zealous man of God bring into the powerful sermon on the "Easter" Sabbath, stamping him as one of the strong pulpit orators of North Carolina. It is not too much to say that he has no superior and few equals that we have ever heard in the able convincing arguments and beautiful oratory which one always hears from him.

St John's Church was very beautiful in its Easter decorations, and an unusual triumph of cultivated taste and artistic effect had been achieved in its interior adornment. The ceremony of the procession of the children of the parish through the churchyard and down the aisles, bearing flowers, with the music of the Easter anthem, added to the loveliness of the striking picture. The "Te Deum" was rendered with much sweetness and expression, and the rector's sermon was in graceful accord with the thoughts and emotions uppermost on this day sacred to the risen Christ.

Full congregations were in attendance upon the interesting services at the Presbyterian and Baptist Churches, but it is not the custom of those denominations to have special Easter exercises.

The Recent Legislature—Hon. Thos. H. Sutton.

For the Observer.]

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Public acts of public men are legitimate subjects of fair and impartial criticism. The smoke, confusion and stir of our recent General Assembly are passing away. The acts and votes of its members are of public record and are now historical. The people have a right to sit in judgment upon this record and history, and they will do it. It will take time and inquiry to justify an expression of healthy public sentiment upon what was done and what was left undone. That much was done which was wise, judicious and necessary for the best good of the people and the welfare of the State, is self-evident, and the people will say, and are saying, "well-done good and faithful servants," to those who worked and spoke for this sort of needed legislation. That no little was done which was unwise, unjudicious and detrimental to the best interests of the tax-payers and the State, is equally true. As time moves on, and our true and thoughtful men apply the light of investigation and of truth to some of the measures passed, these measures will be condemned, and those who sustained them will not be returned again to the legislature. The inquiry will now be whether this Farmers' Alliance legislature stood by the principles of the Farmers' Alliance in much that was done, the members of that order having a controlling voice and influence in both houses. For example, there is nothing in the order to encourage or justify prejudice against lawyers. Although Alliance members were constantly calling upon lawyers to draw bills for them and to aid them in their passage, did not opposition to lawyers constitute a striking feature of the recent legislature? Is it not a perversion of the objects of that organization to possess or encourage prejudice against any profession, or trade, or class, or pursuit? And yet did not the recent legislature show prejudice against a very large proportion of the people of North Carolina? Was it not heralded everywhere that sheep husbandry would be protected when the farmers got control of the legislature? And yet the General Assembly seemed to think more of dogs than of sheep, if votes indicate anything. Is not economy a duty of every farmer? But has not the legislature made a remarkable and astounding increase over the usual amount of appropriations? Has not this had much to do in driving a majority of the counties, even in these depressed times and scarcity of money, to the necessity of asking the legislature for permission to lay special taxes and for issuing bonds? Will there not be a howl in all the counties where the assessments are made, and the tax-collectors go around to collect the taxes to meet the demands of this great increase of taxation? It has always been the war-cry of the hallowed old Democratic party to expose the intolerance and proscription of the Republican party. But when was there exhibited more intolerance than a majority of the Alliance members of the legislature exhibited to their Democratic brethren who would not go the full length with them in voting for the severe and iron-clad railroad commission bill that became a law? The more able and useful the Democratic member who differed with them the greater the intolerance towards him.

Take, for example, that distinguished North Carolinian, the able and eloquent Tom Sutton, as he is called, who so faithfully represented Cumberland in the House. He was the hardest worker in the House, and had about obtained the position of being its leader. Talented, broad-gauged, of elevated views, aggressive as well as progressive, he was very popular indeed. But because, in his conscience, he advocated a more moderate bill, and would not vote for the iron-clad measure, he was compelled to meet torrents of intolerance. But he need have no fear. The people all over the State are for him and with him in his honest and patriotic career on this and other matters of grave legislation. The writer resides well on to a hundred miles from any part of Cumberland, and has a very limited acquaintance with this rising Democratic statesman. But as a lover of fair-play and justice to all, an admirer of boldness and the courage of honest convictions, he belongs to the hosts of true Democrats, in every part of the State, who will sustain and hold up the hands of Tom Sutton. He is an ornament to his profession and his party, and has won a State reputation of which he may well be proud. RUSTICUS.

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C., March 30, 1891.

Prof. W. F. Massey spent Tuesday of last week in town and vicinity, looking after the fruit-growing prospects of this section; also for a place to locate, near by, experimental grounds, to be under the direction of the Faculty of the Agricultural College at Raleigh. In the evening he gave an interesting talk on fruit-growing in general to an intelligent audience that nearly filled the school building. All who heard him were greatly pleased, and hope the Professor will come often and say more.

The Rev. Dr. Sharp (Episcopal) conducted Easter services at the school building on Sunday last. There was a large attendance, and the room was profusely decorated with flowers of various kinds, among which were some very fine specimens of ca la lilies, kindly supplied by Miss Newby, of Sanford. At the close of the service Mr. Sharp reported a fund of about $300, contributed toward the erection of the Episcopal Chapel.

An "all fools" or "sheet and pillow-case party" will assemble at the Southern Pines House on the night of April 1st, and a dance will be one of the enjoyments.

On the same day, from 3 to 5 o'clock, the Ladies' Aid Society Fair will be open at the Prospect House.

At 3 o'clock P. M., April 3rd, Miss Baker will talk of her observations and experiences in the "Land of the Midnight Sun"—admission ten cents. The proceeds are for the benefit of the colored church at Manly.

One day of last week a "blockade schooner" sailed through this section of Moore county, leaving in its wake a score or more of colored "drunks," one of whom, during the following night, had an ear bitten off in a carousal at a shanty on the plantation of Mr. Newton. SNELL.

KENANSVILLE, N. C., March 21, 1891.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Our pleasure-loving townsmen were delightfully entertained last Tuesday night at the home of Mr. B. Wallace, at which a "rainbow party" was given, and at which refreshments were served by the ladies of the Baptist Church for the liquidation of the debt recently contracted for repairs.

The cake given for the best sewing was divided by the committee between Messrs. Paul Brown and Henry Grimes; while to your correspondent, whose skill in manipulating the needle is less dexterous than his handling of the rod, was awarded (unanimously) a bouquet of flowers for the worst sewing. The prizes were presented by Mayor Ward in his happiest style.

The following pupils of the Kenansville High School are entitled to a place on the roll of honor for the month of February: Girls—Misses Maria Loftin, Maggie Hargraves, Emily Kenan, Ran Archer, Mamie Fennell, Lola Warley, Ida Turner, Winnie Bowden, Estelle Williams. Boys—Henry Farrior, Jas. Farrior, Fred Archer. For excellent deportment: Misses Carrie Archer, Emily Kenan, Maria Loftin, Maggie Hargraves, Alberta Johnson, Effie Johnson; James Black. For punctuality: Misses Emily Kenan, Maria Loftin, Daisy Jones.

We were pleased to have a call from Mr. Owen H. Kenan, on his way to Selma, Ala., where he has accepted a lucrative position in the railroad office.

Mr. Paul Brown, after several months of travel in Florida, has returned for a short period of rest.

Miss Mary Farrior, of Goldsboro, is spending some time with the family of Mr. Grimes.

Mr. Henry Farrior returned this morning from the North.

Mrs. B. Wallace is at Duplin X Roads this week.

BENNETTSVILLE, S. C., March 30, 1891.

On last Thursday night some negroes got into a fight on Mr. Geo. Bullard's place at Brightsville, which resulted in the killing of one and the flight of the murderer, Si Odom, over the line into North Carolina, the usual place chosen for sequestration by the felons of our county. The sheriff has four witnesses in jail.

The teachers will hold their usual monthly meeting in Pine Grove school-house, at Adamsville, next Saturday, 4th prox.

The Beaver Dam Baptist Church has recently been moved to the town of McColl. J. W. Ross & Son had the job of moving the building, which was carried nearly a mile, without injury, from its old site on Beaver Dam Creek.

An old gentleman dropped dead in the road near Gibson Station last Thursday. He was old and feeble, and, while trying to fix the harness, died of heart failure. He was alone at the time. His name was Dewees.

Income Tax.

For the Observer.]

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., March 30, '91.

Hon. Thos. H. Sutton:

DEAR SIR:—There appear to be different opinions in reference to the income tax in the last revenue law passed at the last legislature. Will you explain and let the people know the meaning of net income, and who should list these incomes? Respectfully yours,

WM. ALDERMAN.

The question asked has been fully answerd by the construction put upon the words—"net income" by the State Treasurer, whose decision is final.

Under this construction it will be left for every tax-payer to say what his "net income" is.

The revenue law taxing incomes always heretofore had the exemption clause of $1,000. The last legislature struck this clause out.

THOMAS H. SUTTON.

Fifty-one Funerals.

PITTSBURG, March 25.—From a street joke, the grip has become a generally dangerous disease. The death-rate has increased to a great extent, and this month will break the record by the alarming increase of 50 per cent. Closing at noon, 723 deaths have occurred in Pittsburg and Allegheny in the 24 days of this month. Thirty-eight deaths have been reported within the last 24 hours, and many, no doubt, have not been reported.

In the two cities there were fifty-one funerals last Sunday, and there were not one-half enough hearses to go around. Respectably covered wagons are used, and carriages are daily at a premium.

It is daily growing more severe, and now the number of victims is nearing the 5,000 mark in the city and suburbs. Physicians are overworked, and some have as high as forty to sixty cases of grip alone.

IN MEMORIAM.

"MISS CHAMBERLAIN is dead!" These words passed from lip to lip on last Friday morning. With the suddeness of an electric shock the news fell on our ears. Delicate and frail she had been for months. But on Thursday night she was at the meeting of the State Sunday-school Convention, seemingly in better health than for many weeks past.

When the writer met her in the vestibule of the church at the close of the services he expressed a fear as to the danger of exposing herself in such weather. "Oh, no," was the answer, "we have been up too high to-night, and have had too great a blessing to be made sick by it." Little did we think that the parting hand-skake then given was to be the last this side of Heaven. About midnight she parted with the other members of the family and their guest, Mrs. Crafts, whose teaching and social conversation she had so much enjoyed. Kissing them good night, she retired to her room, and in the morning light was found sleeping quietly with her head resting naturally on her arm. Yes, sleeping:

"Asleep in Jesus, blessed sleep,
From which none ever wakes to weep."

It was difficult to realize that she would awake no more on earth at the call of those who wept by her silent form. But so it was. The expressed desire of her heart had been granted. She had been permitted to pass away suddenly and without pain in the midst of her work. Even in regard to the minute details the Lord seem to verify in her experience the words of the Psalmist, "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord." On Thursday afternoon she announced to her pupils the granting of holiday for Good Friday and Easter Monday. Then everyone of them affectionately kissed her good-bye as if some good spirit had whispered to them the premonition of a last farewell.

And now how easy in this case to fulfill the injunction so often quoted from the old Latin philosophy: De mortuis nil nisi bonum! What can we say of her but that which is good? By seven years of earnest, self-sacrificing labor she has left her impress on the minds and hearts of the children and youth of this community. The procession of young people of both sexes that followed her remains to the grave, and covered the mound with garlands of spring flowers, spoke eloquently of the deep hold she had gained on the affections of those who knew her best. There is no need of marble shaft nor written eulogy to perpetuate her memory. Her monument is built already in the hearts and lives of young and old who have felt the influence of her consecrated life. Not only in the Presbyterian church, the church of her choice, but among all denominations are found those who will rise up and call her blessed for the good she has done to them and their children; for no narrow boundary of sectarian prejudice could prevent the outflow of her christian love to all with whom she came in contact. The Bible was to her the "Book of books," from which she drank deep draughts of wisdom that she might give to others the benefit of its saving truths, and alike to all she ministered freely in word and deed that they might believe and live. But who shall take her place in the church of which she was such a devoted member? Who will plead so earnestly for the Foreign Mission work? Who will so hold up the pastor's hands by secret prayer and with words of cheer? Who will fill her place in the women's prayer-meeting, where her voice was so often heard interce ding for others, making special mention of the sick, the poor, the wandering ones? Who will so faithfully watch over, warn and exhort the young? God grant that her mantle may fall on some one who shall have a "double portion" of her spirit, who shall take up the work where she laid it down, and, like her, lead others in active, persistent, loving work for the Master. T. P. B.

PROGRESS.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, Ohio, states that he had been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be Consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, before he had used half of a dollar bottle, that he was much better; he continued to use it, and is to-day enjoying good health. If you have any Throat, Lung or Chest Trouble try it. We guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free at B. E. Sedberry & Son's Drug Store.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well-known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise.—A purer medicine does not exist, and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils, Salt Rheum and other affections caused by impure blood.—Will drive Malaria from the system, and prevent as well as cure all Malarial fevers.—For cure of Headache, Constipation and Indigestion try Electric Bitters.—Entire satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.—Price 50 cts. and $1.00 per bottle, at B. E. Sedberry & Son's Drug Store.

A SUCCESS.

King's Royal Germetuer

Is established as a remarkable success. Thousands of testimonials attest its virtues. Many of these are given by men and women of highest standing in the most honored walks of life. In the midst of a flourishing and rapidly increasing business the price is reduced from $1.50 to $1.00 per bottle This is done in the interest of those whose circumstances in life deter them from paying the higher price. The rich who have tried it will buy at any price, but the managers feel that a medicine which possesses such wonderful powers should be placed within the reach of the poor. Many have said that "Germetuer" was the cheapest medicine on the market. When it is remembered that a bottle of concentrated Germetuer makes a gallon of medicine ready for use, it is certainly cheaper than ordinary medicines as to bulk; and when the powers of the medicine are taken in account the price is inconsiderable. The present price is the result of the unparalleled success of the remedy and the business.

Germetuer is the coming success that has already come. Ask your druggist for it, and if he cannot furnish you send direct to King's Royal Germetuer Company, 14 North Broad Street, Atlanta, Ga., and they will supply you, charges prepaid, by mail or express.

Send stamp for book of particulars, containing certificates of wonderful cures, etc.

A BOON TO THE SICK.

Dr. King's Royal Germetuer is endorsed by Rev. J. B. Hawthorne, pastor First Baptist Church, Atlanta, Ga., who says: "It is a great remedy." Rev. Sam P. Jones says: "I wish every poor suffering wife had access to that medicine." Thousands of others attest its virtues. Fifty gallons are drunk in Atlanta daily, where it is performing remarkable cures. It removes the cause of disease and builds up from the first dose. Send stamp for full particulars, certificates of wonderful cures, etc., to King's Royal Germetuer Co., Atlanta, Ga. IT CURES WHEN ALL ELSE FAILS. Price, $1.50 per concentrated bottle, which makes one gallon of medicine as per directions accompanying each bottle. Can be sent by express C. O. D. if your druggist cannot supply you.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box.

Accepts the Call.

The New Berne Journal of last Saturday is authority for the statement that Rev. R. P. Pell, of Wilson, has accepted a call to become Evangelist for the North Carolina Synod, with Fayetteville to be his home.

Pension News.

We notice that the amended act of the pension laws creates in each county an advisory board of five ex-Confederate soldiers. It also prevents any soldiers' widows having property to the value of $500 and over from receiving pensions. Hereafter indigent widows only will be pensioned.

More Convicts.

An additonal force of about fifty convicts arrived here from Raleigh last Saturday, to work on the Short-Cut extension south. Several miles of the grading have been already completed, andt he contractors are leaving no wheel unturned to have the work completed within the prescribed time.

Change in Management.

Mr. W. E. Murchison—the Mark Twain of the North Carolina press, whose description of the Press Convention last year was simply inimitable—retires from the editorial management of the Jonesboro Leader, and is succeeded by Mr. R. M. Phillips. We shall greatly miss Mr. Murchison, but we are glad to know that the work relinquished by him will be taken up by one thoroughly conversant with the business, and so intimately identified with the material interests of his State and the progressive section which the Leader represents.

Murder at China Grove.

[Concord Times.]

Last Friday evening, the 20th ult., Chas. Isenhour, white, and Warren Partee, colored, left China Grove to hunt rabbits in the country near by. In their rounds they met Amos Harris, a negro, who claimed the gun that Partee had. He demanded that it be given him, as it was left to him by Frank Pope, colored, who recently died. Then Harris advanced on Partee. Partee told him not to follow him or he would shoot, but did not wait to see what Harris would do, and deliberately raised his gun and shot Harris down, the load striking him in the face and neck. The wounded man ran about 20 yards and fell dead. Partee then ran home, put his gun away, and concealed himself in high weeds in a field near by, where he was captured and put under arrest. The coroner was telegraphed for, and the jury's verdict was that Amos Harris came to his death from a gun-shot fired by Warren Partee. Partee is now in jail, and is only 14 years old. Harris was 16 or 18 years old. The shooting occurred two miles from China Grove. We learn the above facts direct from parties living at China Grove.

A Negro Woman Jumps into a Well.

[Charlotte Chronicle.]

MONROE, N. C., March 26.—The colored population have some gossip to pass around among themselves to-day. About 10 o'clock this morning Phœbe Ferguson, a negro woman whose mind seems to be a store-house for hallucinations, performed a wondrous feat by jumping into one of the public wells on court-house square. Her leap was a distance of forty feet from the curb to the water. Night-policeman Chaney and some negroes heard the commotion, and went to her assistance.

A negro was immediately sent down with a lantern, and expected to find a corpse, but, to his astonishment, found a live negro woman, who stoutly resisted any effort to take her out. A rope was tied around her waist, and she was drawn up, and, strange as it may seem, she was not hurt in the least, but is going her rounds to-day as usual. She gives no reason for her conduct, only that she wanted to cool. Her mind is disordered, and an effort is being made to confine her for her own safety and the safety of others.

The Island Beach to the Press.

[Wilmington Messenger.]

Mr. Will Hunter, who takes charge of the Island Beach Hotel at the Hammocks this summer, intends to put up a cottage-tent well-furnished and tastefully decorated, and utilize it especially in the accommodation of newspaper men. Every newspaper man, whether from the State or elsewhere, will be entertained at this tent while sojourning at the Hammocks, as the guest of Mr. Hunter and the Island Beach Hotel.

Mr. Hunter tenders his hospitality to the press, and solicits from its journalists and correspondents suggestions as to an appropriate name for this rendezvous of the associated press. Appropriate colors will be unfurled to the Atlantic breezes at the masthead. Every comfort, convenience and attendance will be at the command of the representatives of the press who accept Mr. Hunter's invitation.

An Old and Remarkable Woman.

[Concord Times.]

Annie Smith, an old colored woman who lives near the seminary, is undoubtedly the oldest person living in these parts, according to her tale. She says she can recollect the Revolutionary War, and has seen and talked with Gen. Jackson. She can count all the wars on down to the last war, and tell happenings of each. She was raised in Wilmington, and was a widow before she was married. She says she has walked to Wilmington five times since she has been living here, and is now preparing to take another jaunt to the "City by the Sea," where she hopes to meet many of her old friends. She is a noted beggar, and has "brass" that compares well with her age.

FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.

A Reward for "Moonshine" Assassins—True Bill Against Ex-Clerk Upchurch—New Secretary of the State Alliance—Railroad Suit etc., etc.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 26.—Under the provisions of a new law which allows the Governor to offer rewards for felons, whether known or unknown, Governor Fowle to-day offered $400 reward for the delivery to the Sheriff of Surry county of the person or persons who on the 20th instant, near Mt. Airy, murdered revenue-officer R. J. Barnwell, and dangerously wounded revenue-officer S. G. Brim. The names of the persons who committed the crime are unknown, though the shooting occurred at an illicit distillery owned by a man named Barker.

A TRUE BILL.

The grand jury in the Superior Court here to-day returned a true bill against Charles D. Upchurch, ex-clerk of the Superior Court, for embezzlement of county funds, such as magistrates' fees, constables' fees, and witness-tickets. Upchurch is in Washington city, and was on the eve of obtaining a good appointment there, it is stated.

SECRETARY BARNES.

The Executive Committee of the State Farmers' Alliance to-day concluded its examination of the retiring State Secretary, E. C. Beddingfield. It elected William L. Barnes, of Toisnot, Wilson county, to be secretary. Barnes is the editor of the Rural Home, an Alliance paper.

THE STATE'S OFFICER.

The Supreme Court has filed an opinion in an interesting case. W. T. Hodge, of this county, brought suit as relator in the name of the State against about forty railways to recover a penalty of $500 from each for failure to make annual reports to the Governor. The case came up before Judge MacRae, the defendant road, the Marietta & North Georgia, which was taken as a test, demurring and raising the question whether the penalty belonged to the State for the benefit of the school-fund, or might be recovered by any one suing in the name of the State as relator. The Judge held that no person can bring such an action but the State through its accredited officer, and sustained the demurrer dismissing the action. The Supreme Court, to which Hodge appealed, sustains the decision of the lower court.

THREATEN TO RESIST.

News was received to-day that the oyster-men in Pamlico county are threatening to resist payment of the license tax.

Rev. Mr. George, of Durham, accepts the call to the rectorship of the Church of the Good Shepherd here.

There is further improvement, though slight, in the condition of Secretary-of-State Saunders.

THE INCOME TAX!

The Opinion of State Treasurer Bain upon the Question of Taxing Incomes.

[Raleigh News and Observer.]

State Treasurer Bain yesterday evening furnished the following as his decision in the matter of listing incomes for taxation. It speaks for itself, and is of interest to the people of the State:

The provisions in the former revenue acts taxing incomes derived from salaries and fees, and allowing the tax payer to deduct one thousand dollars, as necessary expenses for conducting his business or supporting his family, have been amended by striking out the clause allowing the deduction of one thousand dollars. The "machinery act," section 17, sub-division 8, requires the tax payer to list only his "net income." It is necessary, therefore, to define the language "net income." The treasurer has given the subject careful consideration, and has conferred with associate officers of the State government. Without repeating here the reasoning of the opinion, he states as follows: The word "net" is allowed its ordinary meaning of "free from expenses," or "to produce as clear profit," viz: "that which remains after the deduction of all charges or outlay," especially following the general course of legislation, and legislative definition, acted upon for more than twenty years in previous revenue statutes. The true interpretation of the act is to allow the tax-payer to deduct from his gross income the actual necessary expenses of his business or of supporting his family. This construction, which has not been reached without some difficulty, calls for the exercise of the utmost care on the part of the tax-payer in listing the true amount of his net income. He can deduct only the actual expenses of his business or of supporting his family, and such expenses should be allowed him by the list-taker.

A Big Row.

HENDERSON, March 25.—Mr. H. T. Jenkins, late senior partner of the Henderson Tobacco Company of this place, and his counsel, a Mr. Daniel Hall, arrived here from Atlanta on the mid-day train, and were arrested under a warrant sworn out by Col. W. H. S. Burgwyn charging them with false arrest in Atlanta some ten days ago and defamation of character, and laying his damages against each at $15,000. A five thousand dollar bond was required for their appearance at court, which has not yet been given, and they are under guard. A preliminary hearing will be in the morning. Counsel have all gone to their homes, and it is impossible to get a detailed account, but the trouble grew out of transactions with the Henderson Tobacco Company, composed first of Messrs. H. T. Jenkins and R. L. Dangerfield, then cashier of Bank of Henderson (Burgwyn's), and afterwards of H. T. Jenkins and his brother-in-law, W. A. Shelby. On a recent trip to Atlanta Colonel Burgwyn, upon refusal to sign certain papers, was arrested. Upon release, he signed an agreement that his books were open for the inspection of any party interested. Capt. R. L. Dangerfield, now living in Tennessee, has also been arrested at the instance of Jenkins, and been released. It is a terribly tangled affair, and it is not competent to say more at this stage of the game. The misunderstanding must indeed be great.

A Fearful Snow-storm.

HARRISONBURG, Va., March 28.—The snow-fall, which commenced Thursday night at 9 o'clock, continued till 3 o'clock to-day. Snow is melting rapidly, but it is still quite deep. It has been the longest snow-storm for years.

WINCHESTER, Va., March 28.—Snow fell for forty-one hours, reaching a depth of two and a half feet here. The storm has moderated, and the indications are that floods will follow.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 28.—The greatest snow-storm of the season, so far as this city is concerned, is over. Snow fell from 3 o'clock yesterday morning until 10 o'clock this morning without intermission, reaching a depth of about sixteen inches on a level. Country roads are, at worst, impassable, but passenger trains on the railroads are arriving and departing on time. Freight traffic is somewhat impeded, but will be all right in a day or two.

THE DURHAM CONSOLIDATED
Land and Improvement Co.
DURHAM, N. C.

J. S. CARR, President. A. B. ANDREWS, Vice-President. R. H. WRIGHT, Sec'y and Treasurer.

A MOST LIBERAL and REMARKABLE ANNOUNCEMENT.

The "Consolidated" Controls
285 ACRES of Land immediately adjoining The Campus of Trinity College, which has been surveyed into LOTS 50 BY 140 FEET.
The Lots are well located and are situated upon Streets 60 Feet Wide with a Rear Alley of 20 Feet.
The location is admirable for Stores, Restaurants and Dwellings. Persons desiring to "buy or build," in order to educate their boys can do no better than buy one or more of these lots.

IT IS THE PURPOSE OF THE CONSOLIDATED TO OFFER, for the present only.
800 OF THESE LOTS,
and to guarantee that when the 800 Lots are sold, to erect upon some suitable portion of the property, sufficiently far removed from the residential portion, one modernly-built, well-equipped Cotton Factory, to cost $100,000, and to supply the Cotton Factory with a CASH WORKING CAPITAL of $25,000, making total outlay for
COTTON FACTORY, $125,000
One Knitting Mill for the manufacture of Hosiery, Underwear, &c., to cost $50,000, and to supply the Knitting Mill with a CASH WORKING CAPITAL of $25,000, making total outlay for
KNITTING MILL, $75,000
A GRAND TOTAL OF $200,000 IN IMPROVEMENTS
in the line of Industrial Enterprises upon the property.

TO EVERY PURCHASER
of $400 of this magnificent property, the "CONSOLIDATED" will Present { FIVE SHARES, PAR VALUE $25 PER SHARE, - - - $125 full paid and non-assessable in the Cotton Factory, and THREE SHARES, PAR VALUE $25 PER SHARE, - - $75 full paid and non-assessable in the Knitting Mill, $200
Making a return to each Purchaser of $400 of the Property, of $200, well invested in Good Industrial Enterprises.

For every dollar invested in West End Town Lots, adjoining the Trinity College property, the purchaser realizes 50 per cent. In First-Class Industrial Enterprises, which will enhance the value of his investment.

The "CONSOLIDATED" confidently believes that the above is the most liberal and at the same time the most legitimate offer that has come before the public. In fact the offer is so liberal that we do not hesitate to say that in our opinion, the opportunity will be promptly taken advantage of by those who have been waiting for the BEST, or persons desiring to secure first-class educational advantages for their Boys, on the most advantageous terms.

Maps showing the property and Price List of the lots cheerfully furnished on application to R. H. WRIGHT, Secretary, DURHAM, N. C.

REMEMBER
that every purchase of $400 carries eight shares of Stock in two well Equipped Industrial Enterprises par value of $200.

A POINTER.
In buying a lot you are also making an Investment, the Dividends upon which will most likely aid materially to educate your boys.

A HINT.
The building of two large Industries upon the Property, and the completion of Trinity College ought largely to enhance the value of the lots.

A SUGGESTION.
Now is the time to purchase. The lots may all be gone if you wait, and you will miss the opportunity of buying from first hands.

A MAMMOTH AND MAGNIFICENT ARRAY OF NEW SPRING GOODS!

Sometimes I have congratulated myself on my selection of Fashionable Fabrics, but not until this season have I had such a prolific source of congratulation, for an extended tour to all of the leading cities North and East, from which I have just returned, I have no hesitancy in stating that I now exhibit the most perfect a ment of Dry Goods, to thoroughly equip a strictly first-class establishment, ever shown from our western mountains to our eastern seashore. Some of the new style startling in beauty, unique in design, and novelties of the highest and most perfect grades. If we cannot suit you in this brilliant constellation of high-grade novelti would seem to us that the life and work of a Dry Goods Merchant was a failure.

Although it looks like an almost hopeless task, yet we endeavor to give you some faint idea of what is most likely to be interesting to you:

FULL LINES IN

Novelties in Soft Wool Fabrics, showing new ideas of designs and colorings.
St. Bernard Serges and Tinted Cheviots, interwoven with long combed Wool and Camel's Hair, in a variety of rough effects.

SPECIAL MEETING OF TOWN COMMISSIONERS.

W. D. Gaster Elected Recorder—Street Improvements—Charter Amendments Read and Accepted.

A special meeting of the town commissioners was held Monday night, with a majority of the board present.

On motion, the town marshal was instructed to employ a sufficient number of hands, and thoroughly clean out all ditches in town.

The amendments enacted by the late General Assembly to the present charter of the town were read and accepted.

The question of the publication of the acts above-mentioned to was referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. McNeill, McKethan, Cook and B. R. Taylor.

Matter in reference to building a guard-house was discussed, and referred to Messrs. McKethan, Haigh and McNeill.

The election of a Recorder for the term of one year was announced as the next order of business, whereupon, on the first ballot, Mr. W. D. Gaster was elected.

Maj. Chas. Haigh was then recommended to the county commissioners for one of the assessors to represent Fayetteville in the assessment of property.

On motion the meeting then adjourned to meet again on the night of the 6th inst., for the election of officers and the transaction of such other business as may come before the board.

Badly Behind.

Not only has winter held its ground with remarkable tenacity this year, crowding out anything like the approach of genial spring weather, but the general and almost incessant rains have wofully retarded the operations of the farmer. He is behind in ploughing, the distribution of fertilizers and the preparation of the soil; and, even should the rain-fall now give way to propitious weather, it would be some time before the lowlands could be made ready for the crops.

The garden has of course fared no better than the field. A start has hardly yet been made, and early vegetables will probably be very scarce. In this vicinity the gardeners in the highland suburbs, as Haymount and Harrington Hill, are comparatively well off, having got their soil in fair tilth, but those in the outlying eastern and southern districts of the town have hardly been able as yet to put a tool in the earth.

Trial Justice.

The OBSERVER greets our esteemed townsman, Mr. W. D. Gaster, with hearty congratulations upon his recent election to the honorable and responsible office of Recorder, or Trial Justice, for the town of Fayetteville. Mr. Gaster has long been a resident of this city, and for several years has served the public well and faithfully as a Justice of the Peace, which position better enables him to more satisfactorily and impartially discharge the official duties that go hand-in-hand with the office of Recorder. A life-long Democrat, a zealous and unceasing worker at the polls for his party for a quarter of a century, Mr. Gaster is in every way qualified to discharge the duties the new office devolves upon him, and, we predict, with credit alike to himself and the town he has the honor to represent.

Is That So?

The Wilmington Star of last Sunday, 29th ult., has this paragraph:

A leading Republican, who returned home from Washington two or three days ago, says that John S. Leary, the colored lawyer of Fayetteville, is the coming man for collector of this port. He seems confident of the appointment.

"All things come to him who waits." The collectorship of the port of Wilmington is attended by far more substantial emoluments than the very empty honor of a Radical Congressional nomination in this district, and it will go far to console the defeated Republican leader of Cumberland county for not having been selected to lead the "forlorn hope" against Hon. B. F. Grady.

Right—as He Always Is.

The local editor of the Wilmington Star, in Sunday's issue of that paper, says:

Rev. Dr. Pritchard, in Charity and Children, scores the "Farmers' Legislature" for failure to pass a law to tax worthless curs, and thereby encourage sheep husbandry.

The farmers in the General Assembly were not altogther responsible for that failure; but Dr. Pritchard is a sound thinker on all questions—as thoroughly right on the sheep as he is on Sam Jones—and he sees all the importance of adequate protection of sheep husbandry. This protection will come some of these days, and then people will wonder how they patiently did without it so long.

Religious Awakening at Hope Mills.

A private note from Hope Mills conveys the gratifying intelligence that Rev. A. R. Shaw, Evangelist for Fayetteville Presbytery, preached at Rockfish village last Sunday morning and evening. At the evening service the congregation was very large, many being forced to remain on the outside. The presence of the Holy Spirit was evident. There were six or eight professions, with about fifty others asking to be remembered in prayer. The Evangelist contemplates remaining over there several days.

Obituary.

The sudden death, on Friday morning, 27th ult., of Miss Hannah Chamberlain, with the touching circumstances attending it, greatly moved this community, where she was as much esteemed and beloved as if she had passed all the years of her pure and beautiful life among our people. She had but recently recovered from a serious attack of sickness, but was sufficiently restored to take a marked interest in the proceedings of the State Sunday School Convention—for in christian work and service she found the joys most congenial to a heart attuned to its Maker's praise—and she was even present until a late hour at the last session of the convention on the night preceding her death.

Her niece entering her room at about 7 o'clock on Friday morning found it the chamber of death, but the lingering warmth of hand, cheek and brow told that life had but just fled. Strange, that Miss Chamberlain should have more than once expressed the wish to depart just as God called her—the summons coming with the rushing of pinions and the light of another world, where no mortal wasting away vexes the poor body until the imprisoned soul has burst its bonds.

The deceased was a native of Newark, Del., was the elder sister of Mrs. Kate A. McNeill, and for several years had presided over a very successful school in this city, in the loving circle of which her counsel and ministrations will be sadly missed, as well as in her Bible class and the Women's Missionary Society, where she was always conspicuous in conscientious and self-sacrificing zeal. The funeral services took place at 4:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon from the Presbyterian Church (of which she was a member), conducted by Rev. T. P. Barclay, the pastor, and a very large concourse of friends filled the church. The offerings of flowers were most beautiful and elaborate.

On the morning of Monday, 30th ult., at her residence on Hay street in this city, Miss Mary McKenzie departed this life, in the 78th year of her age. She had long been in feeble health—gradually fading away—but until recently had been able to take a short walk or pay a visit.

She was a faithful servant of God in the Presbyterian Church, and all her long and peaceful years made up the spotless life of a true and devout christian—happy in the service of her Creator, in the discharge of the duties of her station, in the love of friends and family.

The funeral services of the deceased took place from the Presbyterian Church on Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, Rev. T. P. Barclay officiating.

Within the past week the community has lost two good women, whose daily walk and conversation exemplified the beauty of a life modeled after the teachings and examples of their Saviour.

Music and Skating.

The old Farmers' Hall on Person street will to morrow evening put on an air of importance and rejuvenation in which it has not ventured to indulge since it was the scene of the State Fruit Fair in 1886. Stirring events have found their theatre within its walls in past days—balls, festivals, amateur entertainments, temperance assemblages, military reunions, Fourth of July celebrations, etc., etc.—and in 1868 one of the largest political conventions ever gathered together in North Carolina there met, presided over by Hon. Walter L. Steele, of Richmond, one of the most finished parliamentarians of his day. The hotels were crowded to overflowing, the citizens threw wide open their hospitable doors, sleeping-places were improvised in the stores, and long tables of food for the hungry were set forth in the warehouses. Then windows and doors were shut, like an old man closing his eyes in the weariness of sleep, and the venerable building has been dozing away most of its old age—to be waked up now and then by the strains of stirring melody and the bounding foot of impatient youth.

To-morrow night once more are its rude, old-fashioned walls to be wrapped in an apotheosis of brilliancy; once again it is to be ablaze with light, resonant of the music of the splendid Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry Cornet Band, tremulous with the rythmic glide of skaters in single file, couples, platoons and quadrilles, radiant with Fayetteville beauty.

And if you don't believe what we are a-tellin' of yer read the advertisement of the Skating Rink Company in another column.

Fayetteville Real Estate Agency.

A new series of the Fayetteville Real Estate Agency, to be denominated as Class "C," will be organized in a few days. President Haigh tells us he has already over two hundred shares taken, and that as soon as the amount reaches three hundred and fifty a meeting will be called and the orgaization of the new series perfected. The Real Estate Agency is one of Fayetteville's pet enterprises, and one that yields a handsome return to the stockholders.

The Vestry of St. John's.

At a meeting of the congregation of St. John's Episcopal Church, held at 8 o'clock on Monday evening last, the following were chosen to constitute the Vestry for the ensuing year: Dr. S. J. Hinsdale, F. R. Rose, J. C. Haigh, Jr., W. N. Tillinghast, Maj. Chas. Haigh, Maj. Jno. N. Prior, S. J. Walton, Hon. J. C. MacRae, Hon. R. P. Buxton, H. R. Horne, Maj. W. F. Campbell, B. R. Huske.

The Gem of Easter.

Of all the beautiful things evoked by the Easter season we have seen nothing lovelier than a rich, full-blown Marechal Niel rose sent to this office by Mrs. J. M. Martin. The bush grows on the eastern wall of the residence, and has been for some days profuse in bud and blossom.

Ah, There!

The Wilmington Messenger of an issue of last week says:

Although somewhat "at sea," our Mr. Crews came in Saturday night with twenty-one new subscribers. The people want the Messenger.

Oh, you naughty, naughty Mr. Crews! And you always keep as "stright as a shingle" when you come to Fayetteville, too! Were you "half seas over," and the crews "all abroad" instead of "all aboard?"

Fayetteville Presbytery.

Fayetteville Presbytery meets this year at Laurel Hill, on April 8th.

Personal Pencilings.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Sinclair have returned from Salisbury.

We regret to know that his Honor Mayor N. W. Ray is still seriously sick.

Maj. E. J. Hale returned home last Saturday for a sojourn of a short time.

Mr. John Roddick has accepted a position with the C. O. D. Clothing Store.

Col. W. J. Green has just returned from a pleasant visit to St. Augustine, Fla.

Squire John B. Downing, of Buckhorn, made us a short but pleasant call last Monday.

Mrs. Walter Watson is visiting relatives in New York, at Orange, N. J., and other places.

General Freight and Passenger Agent Kyle made a flying visit to Greensboro Saturday.

Mr. Chas. W. Kennedy, who has been residing in Georgia for some time, returned home last week.

Mrs. J. M. Beasley, of this city, has been paying a visit to her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Taylor, at Dunn.

Mrs. S. P. Bryan, who has been for some time residing in Bladen county, made a visit home last week.

Misses Mattie Ihrie, of Pittsboro, and Callie Fuller, of Smithfield, are visiting Mrs. J. W. Morris, of this city.

Mr. John R. McNeill has taken a position with Mr. F. W. Thornton as salesman in his mammoth dry goods store.

Miss Florence Welsh, of Loudon county, Va., is visiting relatives in this city, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Welsh and family.

Mrs. Addie Hall, of Council's Landing, Bladen county, last week visited Fayetteville, where she has many warm friends and admirers.

Col. J. W. Alspaugh, of Winston, was here this week, and spent a day or so out at the Cumberland Mills, in which he is largely interested.

Mr. J. M. Rogers, of Winston, one of the most devout Sunday-school workers in attendance upon the convention last week, paid us a pleasant visit.

Mrs. A. S. Huske and children on Monday accompanied her brother-in-law, Mr. J. H. Southgate, to Durham, to spend some time with relatives and friends.

Mr. Percy Page, now stationed at Greensboro in the telegraph service of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, spent a day or two with his many friends here this week.

It gave us pleasure to shake hands, during the Convention last week, with Rev. Dr. N. B. Cobb, a prominent minister of the Baptist Church, and for some time the beloved pastor of the church in this city.

Mr. W. F. Craven, Secretary and Treasurer of the Sanford Sash and Blind Company, made us a pleasant call yesterday, and found it necessary to enlarge his advertisement, and extend it for another six months. That's the way advertising pays in the OBSERVER. It prints the news, and the people read it.

Mr. J. Burgwyn MacRae of Jackson, Northampton county (a sincere friend of the OBSERVER, which warm feeling we heartily reciprocate), is on a few days' visit to Fayetteville, the guest of Hon. and Mrs. J. C. MacRae on Haymont. Mr. MacRae is a cultured, scholarly man, who is cordially welcomed in our social circles on the occasions of his rare visits to this city.

Capt. J. W. Fry, General Manager of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, after an official trip down this end of the line, went up the road yesterday, to go North on business. We agree exactly with Capt. Fry in his idea of the advisability of the consolidation of Greensboro's several land and improvement companies into one great organization. We feel deeply interested in the prosperity of that city, and such a move would give that prosperity a decided impetus.

NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE SUCCESS.

The reason RADAM'S MICROBE KILLER is the most wonderful medicine is because it has never failed in any instance, no matter what the disease, from LEPROSY to the simplest disease known to the human system.

The scientific men of to-day claim and prove that every disease is

CAUSED BY MICROBES,

—AND—

RADAM'S MICROBE KILLER

Exterminates the Microbes and drives them out of the system, and when that is done you cannot have an ache or pain. No matter what the disease, whether a simple case of Malaria Fever or a combination of diseases, we cure them all at the same time, as we treat all diseases constitutionally.

Asthma, Consumption, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Disease, Chills and Fevers, Female Troubles in all its forms, and, in fact, every Disease known to the Human System.

Beware of Fraudulent Imitations!

RING, HAPPY BELLS.

Ring, happy bells of Easter time!
The world is glad to hear your chime;
Across wide fields of melting snow
The winds of summer softly blow,
And birds and streams repeat the chime
Of Easter time.

Ring, happy bells of Easter time!
The world takes up your chant sublime:
"The Lord is risen!" The night of fear
Has passed away, and heaven draws near;
We breathe the air of that blest clime,
At Easter time.

Ring, happy bells of Easter time!
Our happy hearts give back your chime!
"The Lord is risen!" We die no more!
He opens wide the heavenly door;
He meets us, while to Him we climb,
At Easter time.

SWEET SHAMROCK.

O postman! speed thy tardy gait—
Go quicker round from door to door;
For thee I watch, for thee I wait,
Like many a weary wanderer more.
Thou bringest news of bale and bliss—
Some life begun, some life well o'er.
He stops—he rings! O heaven! what's this?
A shamrock from the Irish shore!

Dear emblem of my native land,
By fresh, fond words kept fresh and green;
The pressure of an unfelt hand—
The kisses of a lip unseen;
A throb from my dead mother's heart—
My father's smile revived once more—
Oh, youth! oh, love! oh, hope thou art,
Sweet shamrock from the Irish shore!

What a Horse Would Say Could He Speak.

Farm Journal.]

Don't hitch me to an iron post or railing when the mercury is below freezing.

Don't compel me to eat more salt than I want by mixing it in my oats. I know better than any other animal how much I need.

Don't think because I go free under the whip that I don't get tired.

Don't think because I am a horse that iron, weeds and briars won't hurt my hay.

Don't whip me when I get frightened along the road, or I will expect it next time, and maybe make trouble.

Don't trot me up hill, for I have to carry you and the buggy and myself too.

Don't keep my stable very dark, for when I go out into the light my eyes are injured, especially if snow be on the ground.

Don't say "whoa" unless you mean it. Teach me to stop at that word.

Don't make me drink ice-cold water or put a frosty bit in my mouth. Warm the bit by holding it half a minute against my body.

Don't forget to file my teeth when they get jagged, and I cannot chew my food. When I get lean it is a sign that my teeth want filing.

Don't ask me to "back" with blinds on, I am afraid to.

Don't run me down a steep hill, for if anything should give way I might break your neck.

Don't put on my blind bridle so that it irritates my eye, or so leave my forelock that it will be in my eyes.

Don't be so careless of my harness as to find a great sore on me before you attend to it.

Don't lend me to some blockhead that has less sense than I have.

Potatoes and Onions.

New York World.]

With many crops rotation seems beneficial, independent of yearly manuring, to keep up the fertility of the soil. With some, however, it does not appear to be necessary. Potatoes and onions, especially the latter, do well on the same soil for years, provided they are properly fertilized. As both are pre-eminently hoed crops the kind of cultivation they receive to make them profitable keeps the soil in the best possible condition for their growth. For the onion crop the ground should be exceedingly mellow and rich. Barn-yard and hog-pen manure are both excellent for this crop, provided they are well decomposed and thoroughly mixed with the soil. No crop will pay better for an uncommonly good preparation of the soil than this. A yearly top-dressing of ashes applied to the onion beds and raked in before the planting is highly recommended.

For the potato the ground should be deeply plowed and well harrowed to pulverize it. The furrows for the seed-bed should be deep and wide, to give the tubers room to form without obstruction from the firmer soil of their sides. For this crop the standard commercial fertilizers have given the best returns, and are now more comonly used than for any other. They may be sown broadcast or more directly applied. For their most economical use they may either be mixed with the loose soil in the bottom of the furrow before the seed is dropped, or be scattered on top of a first shallow covering, leaving the furrow to be filled when the shoots begin to appear. It is not quite settled whether above or below the seed is the best.

Applying Commercial Fertilizers.

Correspondence New York World.]

My plan in the garden, especially with all small crops like lettuce, onions and this class, is to prepare the soil in good tilth ready for the seed, and then scatter the fertilizer broadcast as evenly as is possible. Then even the surface with a good steel rake; work the fertilizer well into the soil. With all this class of plants the fertilizer needs to be near the surface in order to benefit them. With cabbage, tomatoes and all the class of larger vegetable plants, make the place for the plants, using a dibble or garden trowel. Put in the fertilizer and stir it well with the soil, and then set in the plants. With sweet corn, potatoes and this class of plants, prepare the soil and mark out the furrows ready for the seed. Drop the fertilizer where the seed is to be planted, stir into the soil, then plant and cover the seed. Generally this will be found better, especially with potatoes, than to wait until the plants come up, and then apply commercial fertilizer.

A Few Sheep Wrinkles.

North-West Stockman.]

Old, broken-mouthed ewes are dear at any price. If they cannot be sold to the butcher feed them to the crows in the fall—they will get them anyhow before "the voice of the turtle is heard in the land."

All sheep are subject to both internal and external parasites. Feed them occasionally a little hard wood ashes or finely pulverized tobacco, which will free them from worms, and improve their general health. Dip them thoroughly in some approved sheep-dip, and there is nothing better than a preparation of tobacco.

Do not overstock: better keep too few rather than too many. If a flock of 100 sheep could be made as profitable as a flock of ten shepherds would be clothed in purple and fine linen. Mix a little sulphur with their salt: it enriches the blood, and disagrees with ticks and other parasites.

☞ The Marquis of Lorne, former Governor-General of Canada, says the talk about the United States annexing Canada is absurd.

REV. SAM. P. JONES
REV. J. B. HAWTHORNE

WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT

DR. KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER

The following is an extract from a letter written by the World Renowned Evangelist:

"I returned from Tyler, Texas, on the 12th inst. I find my wife has been taking Royal Germetuer to the GREAT UPBUILDING of her physical system. She is now almost free from the distressing headaches with which she has been a MARTYR for twenty years. Surely it has done wonders for her! I WISH EVERY POOR SUFFERING WIFE HAD ACCESS TO THAT MEDICINE."

Rev. J. B. Hawthorne, Pastor First Baptist church, Atlanta, Ga., was cured of a long standing case of Catarrh. His wife had been an invalid from nervous headache, neuralgia, and rheumatism FOR THIRTY YEARS, scarcely having a day's exemption from pain. After taking Royal Germetuer two months, he writes: "A more complete transformation I have never witnessed. EVERY SYMPTON OF DISEASE HAS DISAPPEARED. She appears to be twenty years younger, and is as happy and playful as a healthy child. We have persuaded many of our friends to take the medicine, and the testimony of all of them is that it is a great remedy."

Dr. King's Royal Germetuer is a boon to women. It builds up the strength, increases the appetite, aids digestion, relieves them of the cause of disease, and insures health.

It is an infallible cure for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Insomnia, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Palpitation, Liver, Bladder and Kidney Diseases, Chills and Fevers, Catarrh, all Blood and Skin Diseases, Female Troubles, etc.

Prompted by a desire to reach more suffering people, the price has been reduced from $2.50 to $1.00 per concentrated bottle, which makes one gallon of medicine as per directions accompanying each bottle. For sale by the

THE PROPERTY OF THE COMPANY CONSISTS OF

FIRST. 8,000 City Lots, or 2,022 acres of land in the city of Tallapoosa, Haralson County, Georgia, the residue remaining unsold of 2,500 acres, on the centre of which the city was originally built. Present value $1,084,765.

SECOND. 2,458 acres of valuable mineral land, adjacent to the city of Tallapoosa, all located within a radius of six miles from the centre of the city. Present value $122,900.

THIRD. The issued Capital Stock of the Georgia, Tennessee & Illinois Railroad Company, chartered for the purpose of building a railroad from Tallapoosa, Ga., to Stevenson, Ala., 120 miles, that will net the company nearly $2,000,000 of the capital stock of railroad paying 7 per cent. dividends.

FOURTH. The Tallapoosa Furnace, on the line of the Georgia-Pacific Railroad, in the city of Tallapoosa, Ga.—the said furnace being of 50 tons capacity, manufacturing the highest grade of cold and hot blast charcoal car-wheel iron. Present value $250,000.

FIFTH. The Piedmont Glass Works, situated on the line of the Georgia-Pacific Railroad, in the city of Tallapoosa, Ga., said plant being 12-pot furnace capacity, and manufacturing flint-glass flasks and prescription-ware. Present value $100,000.

There is already located on the property of this Company, in the city of Tallapoosa, Ga., 2,800 inhabitants, 2,000 of whom are Northern people, who have settled in Tallapoosa within the last three years, 632 houses, 15 manufacturing industries, and 40 business houses, schools, churches, water-works, electric lights, $75,000 hotel, and new manufacturing industries building, etc.

50,000 SHARES TREASURY STOCK

Are now offered to the public, the proceeds to be devoted to locating new manufacturing establishments and developing the Company's city property, at a SPECIAL PRICE OF $3.33⅓ PER SHARE.

This stock is full paid and subject to no assessments. It will pay dividends April and October, and the price will be advanced to $5.00 per share when the 50,000 shares are sold.

Orders for stock will be filled as received, in any amount from one share upward, as it is desired to have as many small holders in all sections of the country as possible, who will, by their interest in the Company, influence immigration to Tallapoosa, and advance the interests of the Company.

$10.00	will purchase	3	shares or	$30.00	par value of stock.
